1. An unknown number of persons who were imprisoned by Rumanian authorities for "reactionary tendencies" have been released from prison. Many of them still had two years more of their prison terms to serve.
2. The Rumanian authorities have granted permission to several small businessmen such as grocers, fruit merchants, and shopkeepers to open privately owned and operated shops. A plentiful supply of vegetables has very recently appeared on the Rumanian markets and after a very long period of time, meat is now available again to the Rumanian public.
3. Reportedly, ration cards for the daily procurement of bread are currently being distributed to all citizens in Rumania.
